Election/Restrictions

Claims 1-12 are withdrawn.

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the steps of the method which is now claimed must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 21-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. In claim 21, the faces being “substantially flat” is considered new matter since the drawings, as originally filed, show the faces to be slightly arched (see Fig. 2).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 21 and 24-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Colwell (US 2,305,064). In the sequence between Figs. 5 and 6, Colwell discloses a method where a first interior edge (the lower edge as shown) as die rolled by a stamping operation (Fig. 5) and second interior edge (the upper edge as shown) is formed to have a blunted beveled cross-section (85 in Fig. 6) shown to have a depth of between 60 to 85% the total thickness and an angle between 10 and 40°.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 22 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Colwell. While Colwell does not disclose the second interior edge to be formed with a rounded cross-section, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to make it with a rounded cross-section since it would require only a change in shape selected from a finite group of possible shapes which are known and may be useful for different applications.

Claims 21-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Croskey (US 5,352,079) in view of Bakermans (5,263,353). Croskey discloses a snap ring and teaches it is well known to make the ring by stamping method (see the "Background of the invention") but, does not disclose the stamping to produce a die roll at a first inner edge nor forming a cross-section at a second inner edge. Bakermans discloses a stamping method including stamping (Figs. 3-5) followed by forming (Figs. 7-9) wherein, as seen in Fig. 6, the stamping leaves a first inner rolled edge and, as seen in Fig. 9 the forming leaves a second inner blunted beveled edge. The edges are also seen in Figs. 10 and 15 respectively. The formed edge is shown to have a blunted beveled cross-section with a depth of between 60 to 85% the total thickness and an angle between 10 and 40°. At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to make the snap ring of Croskey with a method as disclosed in Bakermans because the method of Bakermans is superior because it forms improved contact edge surfaces which are burr free as discussed therein. Again, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to make it with a rounded cross-section since it would require only a change in shape selected from a finite group of possible shapes which are known and may be useful for different applications.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
